THREE SENTENCED TO THE GALLOWES

James Piew and Mrs. Bessie Wakefield Scheduled to be Hanged on March 4—Joseph Bergeon Doomed by the Court to Die February 4th—Mrs. Wakefield in Tears—None of Prisoners Have Anything to Say.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 4.—Unparalleled in criminal jurisprudence of Connecticut, three persons, one a woman, stood before the bar of the superior court here this afternoon and were sentenced to die on the scaffold for the crime of murder. The woman, Bessie J. Wakefield, who aided James Piew, her paramour, in putting her husband, William Wakefield, out of the way, is the first woman to be convicted of murder in the first degree since the state has had a constitution. Piew—self confessed to the murder—had his degree of guilt fixed by Judge Burpee under a statute of 1912. The court said that after examination of witnesses it could find no extenuating circumstances which would lead to the fixing of a lesser degree of guilt than that of premeditated murder.

The Third Murderer.
The third prisoner sentenced to die was Joseph Bergeon, alias Beger, who shot and killed Mrs. Dousette, with whom he had lived for a time, in Chicago. He also had pleaded to homicide under the ancient statute, and his was the first case on record where the court examined the witnesses to ascertain the details of the crime. When called to the bar Judge Burpee said he could find no reason to make the degree of guilt less than that of premeditated murder.

Motion to Set Aside Verdict.
The time occupied in sentencing the three prisoners was very short. Court came in at 2 o'clock after the noon recess. The Plea hearing had been previously ended, as neither E. S. Thomas, counsel for Piew, nor State's Attorney Alling had arguments to make. Mrs. Wakefield had been brought down from the county jail by Sheriff Hugo. She wore a light gray dress, and was accompanied by Mrs. C. J. Donahue, wife of the jailer.

Not many spectators were present. State's Attorney Alling as soon as court opened moved for sentence of Mrs. Wakefield. Her attorney, Thomas J. Devine, offered a motion asking that the verdict be set aside as against the evidence and a new trial granted. To this motion Mr. Alling said he had nothing to say. Judge Burpee overruled the motion and Mr. Devine requested that an exception be noted. This was done.

Mrs. Wakefield Weeps.
The court ordered that Mrs. Wakefield be presented at the bar. By order of the court the clerk instructed the sheriff to proclaim silence while the death sentence was being imposed, no person to make a noise under pain of imprisonment. The woman, supported by Mrs. Donahue, wept silently. The court, rising, asked her if she had anything to say why sentence should not be imposed. Mrs. Wakefield made no reply, for she was sobbing hard and seemed not to hear what was said. Upon receiving no reply, Judge Burpee read the sentence of death, which was that she should be committed to the care of the sheriff of the county for thirty days, and thereupon taken to Wethersfield, there to remain until Wednesday, March 4, 1914, on which day before sunrise she shall be hanged "by the neck until she is dead."

Plew Says Nothing.
While the silence remained over the room, State's Attorney Alling addressed the court and asked if James Plew should be presented at the bar. The court was ready, and Plew was led from the prisoner's cage to the table where sat his attorney, Mr. Thomas. The court, addressing the prisoner, said that he stood there convicted of homicide by his own confession, and the court having examined the witnesses was unable to find any reason why the guilt should not be adjudged that of first degree. Counsel was asked if he had anything to say, and Mr. Thomas said he had not. Mr. Alling moved for sentence. When the court asked if he had anything to say why sentence of death should not be passed upon him, he hung his head and apparently mumbled "No, sir." Plew was an old black suit, collar without a tie. He has stone-gray hair and moustache and is fully 20 years older than Mrs. Wakefield.

Bergeon Sentenced.
Mr. Alling said that Joseph Bergeon, confessed murderer of Mrs. Dousette, was in the courtroom. Judge Burpee ordered him brought to the bar. The same proceeding followed as with Plew, the court saying that it found no reason for a conviction other than first degree. Attorney J. Birney Tuttle asked if he had anything to say, and he had no motion to make at this time. For the third time silence was proclaimed and the death sentence passed on Bergeon, the date being Feb. 4, 1914.

Fresno, Cal., has a model open-air school building costing less than $500.

Teachers in Greenville, Miss., are required by the school board to attend summer school at a university at least once every three years.

Salaries received by young women graduates of the home-economics course of the University of Wisconsin range from $750 to $1,000 for the first year's work up to $1,500 for the third year of employment.

The University of Pittsburgh has opened a free "School of Childhood" for children 4 to 7 years of age, in which it hopes to "combine the best features of the kindergarten, the playground, and the Montessori school."

The importance of the personality of the teacher in any system of schools is emphasized by Dr. P. P. Clayton, U. S. Commissioner of Education, in a recent letter to the 3,400 county townships, and district superintendents in the United States.

Students from India studying in this country have organized a "Hindustan Association of the U. S. A." for the purpose of furnishing information about educational facilities at American universities and colleges to other young men in India.

Nearly every aspect of rural education and life is discussed in the "Proceedings of the 16th Conference for Education in the South," copies of which are available for free distribution by the United States Bureau of Education.

Bernalillo County, New Mexico, has a superintendent of schools who not only insists upon improved rural schoolhouses, but designs them himself and personally superintends their erection. Under the direction of Supt. A. Montoya the old "adobe" are rapidly giving way to attractive buildings of brick and pebble-dash, thoroughly equipped to meet modern demands for rural education.

Troubles of Tennis Referee.
A good share of the humors of a tennis tournament comes in the way of the referee, writes F. R. Burrow in the Strand for September. He it is upon whom an indignant father bursts, with righteous indignation, to impart his illogical conviction that "if my daughter had been properly handicapped she would have won easily." It is to him that a husband has been known to bring the apparently startling request, "I want you to stretch my wife!" His duties, in the management and careful fitting-in of the matches of a tournament, are apt to be disturbed by telegrams such as the following series, which once came at intervals of about half an hour from an absent competitor whose presence was urgently desired. No. 1 ran, "Car broken down; hiring another." No. 2, "Hired car broken down; coming by train." No. 3, "Train broken down; hiring special." And No. 4, "Special broken down; walking." Quite outside one's ordinary duties is the receipt of such a postcard as the following: "I see you have a croquet tournament at—next week. Please let me know by return what size cotton and pins are allowed." This baffled me completely, until I learned that in the week following the tennis tournament a croquet tournament was to be held on the same ground, and either through a printer's error or supreme mental blindness some confiding spinner had jumped to the conclusion that the opportunity had at last arrived for exhibiting her talents as a croquet-worker.

Why Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless: Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food: Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

The Kind You Have Always Bought and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

Letters from Prominent Physicians Addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. W. L. Leister, of Rogers, Ark., says: "As a practicing physician I use Castoria and like it very much."

Dr. W. T. Sealey, of Amity, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria for several years in my practice and have found it a safe and reliable remedy."

Dr. Raymond M. Everts, of Santa Ynez, Cal., says: "After using your Castoria for children for years it annoys me greatly to have an ignorant druggist substitute something else, especially to the patient's disadvantage, as in this case. I enclose herewith the wrapper of the imitation."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

Dr. W. F. Wallace, of Bradford, N. H., says: "I use your Castoria in my practice, and in my family."

Dr. Wm. I. McQuinn, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine and aside from my own family experience, I have, in my years of practice, found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. Howard James, of New York, City, says: "It is with great pleasure that I desire to testify to the medicinal virtue of your Castoria. I have used it with marked benefit in the case of my own daughter, and have obtained excellent results from its administration to other children in my practice."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Channing H. Cook, of Saint Louis, Mo., says: "I have used your Castoria for several years past in my own family and have always found it thoroughly efficient and never objected to by children, which is a great consideration in view of the fact that most medicines of this character are obnoxious and therefore difficult of administration. As a laxative I consider it the peer of anything that I ever prescribed."

Dr. L. O. Morgan, of So. Amboy, N. J., says: "I prescribe your Castoria every day for children who are suffering from constipation, with better effect than I receive from any other combination of drugs."

Dr. H. J. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. Wm. L. Bowerman, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I am pleased to speak a good word for your Castoria. I think so highly of it that I not only recommend it to others, but have used it in my own family."

Dr. F. H. Kyle, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "It affords me pleasure to add my name to the long list of those who have used and now endorse your Castoria. The fact of the ingredients being known through the printing of the formula on the wrapper is one good and sufficient reason for the recommendation of any physician. I know of its good qualities and recommend it cheerfully."
